U. S. LOSES FIRST AIR PIRACY CASE

GOVERNMENT IS POWERLESS TO REGULATE THE MATTER

In Broadcasting Is Verdict of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson—Charges Preferred Against the Zenith Radio Corporation Station WJAZ Dismissed—Chaos To Result In Air Radio Men Predict—Decision Will Be Appealed.

Uncle Sam lost the first "air piracy" case Friday at Chicago, Illinois, when Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson dismissed charges that the Zenith Radio corporation station WJAZ illegally broadcast at hours and on wavelengths not assigned to it.

This test case ruling will result in "chaos in the air" according to broadcasters and listeners, who foresee the removal of government restraint on what may be "put on the air," as to time and wavelength.

Herbert C. Hoover, secretary of commerce, recently forecast that by such a decision as was given Friday "between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000 worth of receiving sets would be made useless to thousands of families now enjoying this field of amusement."

The decision denied to Secretary Hoover the power he had assumed to regulate hours and wavelengths of broadcasting, and from the mess that is expected to result it is believed pending legislation at Washington will be enacted, establishing government powers of regulation that will withstand court attack.

The case originated when WJAZ decided to defy government orders concerning broadcasts. This was early in the year, and Eugene F. McDonald Jr., president of Zenith Radio corporation, took the step after consulting attorneys.

The station had been licensed by the government to operate on a 32.4 meter wavelength two hours weekly under a split arrangement with Station KOA, at Denver. When it defied Secretary Hoover it began to use a 329 meter wavelength, which had been set aside for international broadcasting between the United States and Canada.

This resulted in protests from Canadians, who complained that all they could "tune in" was WJAZ. The Denver station also complained that the Chicago broadcaster was on the air at times when the wavelength had been assigned to its exclusive use.

The government had no choice but to make a court test of the law, and sued in Chicago federal court, asking that WJAZ be enjoined from "pirating" wavelengths and punished by heavy fine.

Because of the importance of the case, which assumed national import, special prosecutors were sent from Washington and the government built an elaborate case. Counsel for WJAZ contented themselves with admitting all the charges of broadcasting on unassigned wavelengths wherever they saw fit, and denied that Secretary Hoover had any legal authority to prevent the station doing what it saw fit.

In effect, Judge Wilkerson ruled that he was careful to avoid a construction of the congressional law dealing with the subject which might make it unconstitutional.

After announcing his decision, Judge Wilkerson, in an informal conversation with counsel for the defendant, said he at first intended to assess a nominal fine and thereby make it a test case, but that he changed his mind upon final consideration.

House of Noted Roy Roy Is to Be Modernized

Glasgow, Scotland.—Roy Roy's Glen-gyle house on the borders of Perth-shire and Stirlingshire, where the famous highland outlaw died in 1734, is to be modernized. It is to have electric call bells for the servants and incandescent light for the benefit of its occupants and visitors. The idea of doing away with candles and ancient oil lamps is that of the Glasgow municipality. Some of the townspeople regard the innovation a sacrilege. Bridge Span High as 20-Story Building

The huge movable double-tracked bridge span built by the Florida East Coast railway over the St. Johns river at St. Augustine, Fla., is, when elevated, as high as the average 20-story building, reaching 216 feet into the air. With the counterweights, trusses, operating struts, and other fixtures, it weighs 2,837 tons, and is said to be the heaviest of its type and the third longest ever built. The men at the top of the lifted span appear so small as to be almost invisible. Photograph is unique in that it shows three different types of movable bridge structures. The single-track span over which the train is passing is the former railway bridge; in the background is seen the vertical lift highway span built several years ago by Duval county, Florida, and in the foreground is the new huge double-tracked bascule bridge span.

THE ORIENTAL CONFERRED BY PHILOS LODGE

Delightful Session in Castle Hall and Splendid Banquet at Elks Home.

Philo lodge, Knights of Pythias Friday evening in Castle hall, conferred the Oriental degree on seven candidates. The exemplification of this degree is the playground of Pythianism and from the best information obtainable the "boys" had "the time of their lives." The work was performed by Chancellor Commander Charles B. Stofer and his corps of able assistants.

Not the least enjoyable of the evening's entertainment was the most excellent dinner in the Elks banquet rooms. This banquet consisted of chicken with all the trimmings and was prepared and served in faultless style by the Pythian Sisters. This part of the program was under the skillful direction of G. S. Dresbach, chairman of the entertainment committee of Philo lodge.

One hundred and fifty banqueters enjoyed the splendid repast and the conferring of the degrees. Visitors were present from Chillicothe, Adelphi, Laurelville, Stoutsville, Kingston, Amanda, Ashville and Williamsport.

Bear Trees Man, Holds Him Captive All Night

Winchendon, Mass.—Exhausted and almost frozen after a night passed in a swaying tree top in the woods near the Beaman farm, Joseph Stone, a woodsman, was brought into town in the morning by Daniel P. Morlock, a passing autoist, who rescued him from his precarious position.

Stone explained that he had occupied his chilly perch all night because a big black bear had insisted on occupying a spot near the bottom of the tree. A hastily organized hunting party started at once for the scene. The bear was reported headed for the vicinity of Monadnock mountain, but the hunting party expected the dogs to tree him.

LIBRARIANS AND TRUSTEES HOLD MEETING

Miss Mary Wilder, Chairman -- Circleville Trustees Take Part in Playlet.

Miss Grace Moodie, trustee; Miss Mary Wilder, librarian, and Miss Leola Warner, assistant of the Circleville public library, returned Friday evening from Columbus, where they attended a two days' sectional meeting of the Ohio Library association.

Mr. S. T. Rife, of the board of trustees, attended the Friday morning session and took the leading role in a playlet, "Why Not?" a discussion of library service under the county plan, in which Miss Moodie also took part.

Miss Warner was enrolled in a study group, conducted by Miss Mildred Sandoe, of Grandview Heights, on "The Library and the School." Miss Wilder acted as chairman of the meeting.

Griswold, assistant attorney general of Ohio, Charnels Hadley, librarian of the Cincinnati Public library and president of the Ohio Library association, Herbert Hirschberg, state librarian, Rev. George Barber, of Columbus; Miss Anna Tarr, of Youngstown, and Miss Georgia McAfee, of Lima.

BROTHERHOOD MEETING WAS INTERESTING

Talks by Business Men Were Helpful and Encouraging to Young People.

Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood held its regular meeting in the social room of the church on Thursday evening, April 17.

The meeting opened by singing hymn No. 84 "I Could Not do Without Thee," followed by scripture reading and prayer by Rev. G. J. Troutman. The hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was then sung. After the regular business meeting a buffet lunch was served by Adam Goldhart and his committee.

The program consisted of a number of talks on the "Start and Development of My Business" by George C. Gerhart Charles L. Mack, Elmer E. Wolf, E. E. Sensenbrenner and W. E. Crist. These talks were very interesting and helpful, especially to the younger members of the organization who have this task to master yet, namely, "success." These talks pointed out how necessary it is first to build a character and what an asset this will be to a successful business.

These meetings are very interesting and everyone should come. The next meeting is on May 15.

THE SENATE
Prohibition Investigation — Dry Side of Case.
Washington, April 16.—(UP.)—While several moves were under way in downtown Washington as a result of Prohibition Chief Andrews' frank expression for light beer, the dries began presentation of their case today before the Senate Prohibition Investigating Committee.
Dry spokesmen announced they would base their refutation of the wet case upon the following three major contentions:
1. Statistics of wets that corruption, drunkenness and diseases have increased are misleading. The dries will submit their own figures in an effort to show wets have concentrated on isolated cases and that as a matter of fact drinking is done nowadays only among a few and prohibition is a success to most people.
2. Prohibition has raised the standard of the working man and salvaged the pay envelope he used to spend in the saloon, for his family.
3. If there have been any defects in enforcement, it has been because unsympathetic agents have been given key positions and because congress has not furnished sufficient funds and machinery.

EUSTIS ROMANCE ENDS IN WEDLOCK

A quiet wedding which will be of much interest and also quite a surprise to the many friends of the young couple in their home states, as well as to many in Eustis, took place Wednesday, April 7, at 8:30 p. m., at the M. E. Church parsonage, Rev. Soper officiating. Miss Vera Jane Wood, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wood, of Columbus, Ohio, and Sidney Elliot Close, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Close, of Greenwich, Conn., were married.

It seems to have been a love match almost from first acquaintance, which happened some few weeks ago, and when the time came for the young man to journey homeward they decided "no parting could there be." After gaining consent of their parents they lost no time in having the nuptial knot tied and left by auto Thursday morning to spend a short time with friends in Ohio, after which they will be at home for the summer in Round Hill, Greenwich, Conn.

Mrs. Close, with her parents, spent the winter in Eustis. Mr. Close also spent the winter here, being a representative of Belmont Heights, and is considered as having unusual business ability for one of his age. Both have made many friends while here who will join in wishing them all the joys and happiness of married life.—Sunday's Lake Region News, Eustis, Fla.

Prehistoric Monster's Bones Found in Illinois

Springfield, Ill.—Three teeth weighing fourteen pounds each, a tusk seven feet nine inches long and a skull four feet wide are the remains of a prehistoric Illinois monster which have been excavated near Golconda for the state museum by Dr. A. R. Crook, chief.

Bones of the monster are also included in the collection which has been created by Doctor Crook for shipping to the museum. Fifteen boxes were necessary to contain the remains excavated after the tusk had been found by steam shovel working on a dam.

The remains were found about a month ago by a steam shovel crew working on dam No. 31 of the Ohio river waterway project. The dam is about four miles below Golconda. When notified by the Associated Press of the discovery of the remains, Doctor Crook communicated with engineers in charge of the construction of the dam, asking them to leave the remains as they were found until he could superintend the excavation.

Sugar-Baiting the Ants
An easy way to rid the premises of ants is to soak a sponge in sweetened water and place it near where the insects congregate, either in the house or on the lawn. When the sponge is full of pests it may be dipped in scalding water and used over again.

BETTER HOMES
EXPOSITION
OPEN SUNDAYVisit "Home Beautiful" on Northridge Road--Merchants Cooperating.

The first Better Homes exposition and the "Home Beautiful" will be shown tomorrow, Sunday, by the merchants of this city.

The Circleville Development company, has kindly loaned one of their beautiful houses on Northridge road, corner Guilford avenue to the merchants of the city.

The exposition will last one week. Beginning Sunday afternoon, open house will be kept for the entertainment of the public, from two to 4:30 in the afternoons and from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evenings. The exposition will be open at the same hours during the week and there will be attendants in charge to show you thru.

New devices for the home will be shown. Home furnishings now made for comfort, as well as decorative quality will be on exhibition. You will get some idea of decorations that are new; for instance, draperies for windows, that obviate the need of curtains. Glazed chintz is a popular material. Crisp and colorful curtains of this type remove much of the stiffness of the room. Small tables also play a big part in home schemes, for various rooms of a modern home can always utilize them as aids to comfort. Charm quality is easy to perpetuate in a modern home, if compactness in selection of cooking equipment and furnishings is observed.

Half the furnishings in a kitchen today can be thrown into discard, if you use modern-up-to-date articles. Crowded homes lack atmosphere of charm. Thought and care should be exercised in arranging furniture and objects in a room.

Do not fail to visit the "Home Beautiful" either Sunday or some time during the coming week. It will be a revelation and will be interesting to every lover of a real home. The articles exhibited will give you a better idea as to how they look in a home. That is the thought the merchants have in showing their wares and you will like the plan yourself, so lend your presence and join the crowd.

THIRD OF DRUNKEN
DRIVERS ARE FREEDPublic Officials Lax, Says
Safety Director.

Washington.—Thirty-three per cent of drunken automobile drivers go unpunished by the authorities, is the startling statement made here by Marcus A. Dow, director of the Stewart-Warner safety council for the prevention of automobile accidents, who was here to attend the national conference on street and highway safety, called by Secretary Hoover of the Commerce department and which opened its sessions in the United States Chamber of Commerce building.

Mr. Dow, who presented to the Hoover conference many other startling facts he has discovered in his many years of safety work, has just completed a survey of the death-dealing automobile with the assistance of the chiefs of police in 185 cities and towns which he is compiling for the Stewart-Warner safety council of Chicago to be used in his nationwide campaign to help cut down the tremendous death toll due to automobile accidents. In an interview prior to the opening of the three-day conference Mr. Dow revealed some of the high spots in his investigation.

Are Contributing Factor.

"In the survey of the contributing causes to automobile accidents, said Mr. Dow, "it has been made clear that drunken and reckless drivers of automobiles are numerous enough to be a big contributing factor to the street and highway accident record of the United States. The record of arrests shows this class of drivers to be an actual and grave menace throughout the entire nation, while adequate punishment of offenders is conspicuously lacking. The failure to punish is the most regrettable part of this serious situation."

"I have just received reports from the chiefs of police of 185 cities and towns which show that 14,505 persons were arrested for driving automobiles while intoxicated in 1925 and 146,766 arrests were made for speeding or reckless driving where no intoxication was charged. These cities covered in my survey represent 34 states and the District of Columbia. The population of the towns and cities on which this estimate is made totals 15,000,000."

"The most amazing fact revealed in these reports is that 33 per cent of the drunken drivers arrested received no punishment, their cases being either discharged or sentence suspended. We found that only 21 per cent arrested for intoxication were sent to jail and 46 per cent fined. Of those arrested for speeding or reckless driving and who were not drunk only 46 per cent were fined and 1 per cent sent to jail."

124,000 Drivers Drunk.

"Assuming that the same conditions exist in all the other cities and towns of the United States as are found in those covered in the Stewart-Warner safety council survey, which is a reasonable assumption, there were at some time last year more than 124,000 persons driving automobiles in the streets and highways of the country while drunk. The number guilty of speeding and reckless driving where no intoxication was involved would include 5 per cent of the motorists of the United States."

"Every automobile with an intoxicated driver at the wheel becomes a potential death car, and every car in the hands of a reckless driver a deadly weapon. It is obvious that if the automobile death and injury record is to be improved and the streets and highways made safer for the people there must be a decided tightening up in the enforcement of law against drunken and reckless drivers, which our survey demonstrates is sadly lacking throughout the country generally."

Mr. Dow found just one bright spot in the course of his investigation. That was in Florida. At Jacksonville 192 persons were arrested for driving cars while intoxicated and every one of them was punished.

Anniversary Recalls
Famous Days of '49

January 24, 1923, was the seventy-eighth anniversary of the day that James Wilson Marshall found in California, the first flake of gold, worth intrinsically but 50 cents. He picked up this "chispa," as he called it, at Sutter's mill, on the south fork of the American river, now Coloma, El Dorado county, Cal. At the time of his discovery Marshall was a vigorous type of frontiersman, a trifle over thirty-seven years of age.

The first flake of the gold was sent August 23, 1848, by Capt. Joseph L. Polson, U. S. A., to the National museum at Washington, D. C., now the Smithsonian institution. It has reposed there, with the original letter that accompanied it, ever since its receipt.

James Wilson Marshall was born in Hope township, Hunterdon county, New Jersey, October 8, 1810. He died at Kelsey, El Dorado county, Cal., August 10, 1887. His remains rest beneath a monument erected at Coloma by the state of California.—Detroit News.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS WILL BE CONCLUDED

Tomorrow Will be Red Letter Day at Calvary--Basket Dinner at Noon.

Friday night at Calvary Evangelical church Rev. Glass preached a powerful sermon on "A Young Man's Choice," taking for his text; "One Thing Thou Lackest."

Jesus beheld that splendid young man and loved him, He saw within him a tremendous lack. He said, "One thing thou lackest."

What was it this man lacked? He did not lack a good desire, neither did he lack courage, yet he lacked that power that would have enabled him to say "Yes" to the will of Jesus Christ; that power that would have made him willing to go about his Master's business. His possessions seemed to shut the face of Jesus out of his soul, and instead of seeing Jesus he saw his earthly possessions.

Just as truly and lovingly as Jesus called that young man He is calling you. Just as truly as He said to that young man, "Take the cross," He is saying it to you. What will you do? Will you do as this young man did? Oh, tonight in Jesus name, if you have never definitely consecrated yourself to God do it now!

Are you all ready for a big day for Jesus tomorrow? Remember, Sunday school at 9 a. m. This is "Red Letter day" in the Sunday school and we expect a large attendance. Some special features are on the program that you should all plan to hear.

Following the Sunday school at 10:15 will be a "Fortification Service" subject; "The Great Purpose to be Kept in View."

Everybody come and bring your basket well filled as dinner will be served in the basement following the morning service.

At 2 p. m. there will be an old-fashioned Evangelical Fellowship service, followed with a sermon on "The Ambition of the Spiritually Minded."

Sunday evening at 6:15 is E. L. C. E. meeting. Don't neglect this service as the subject is one in which we should all be interested; "How do Men Either Build or Undermine the Sabbath?" The last service of this evangelistic campaign will be at 7:15 Sunday evening, subject; "Our Future What About It?" Let us make the most of these last services with Brother and Sister Glass. You are going to miss a wonderful treat if you don't get in on the good things tomorrow.

Monday evening there will be a special program conducted by Rev. Glass. If you want to know what it is going to be, come to the services Sunday.

Charleston Champion
Dr. Joseph A. Interland, president of the Pediatrists' association, declared in New York the other day that the charleston causes flat feet.
"I never heard a good word spoken of the charleston but once," he said. "It seems that once a rich bachelor, charlestoning with a beautiful girl, panted:
"How divine this charleston is? I wouldn't miss a measure of it for wealth untold."
"Why? the girl asked softly, and she clung to him a little closer, for he was very rich.
"Because," he puffed, "I feel the first symptoms of an influenza cold stealing over me, and I want to charleston it off."

Rarefied Air Used for Killing Moths

Washington.—Mountain climbers and aviators are familiar enough with the disabling and even deadly effect of rarefied air, but it has remained for scientists to utilize thin air in beneficial ways.

E. A. Back and R. T. Cotton of the Department of Agriculture have first reported on the work they and others have done in using rarefied air to kill insects in stored articles subject to their depredations. They have found that moths and other insects inside a locked trunk may be killed by exposure for a few days to atmosphere from one-fifth to one-thirtieth of normal. A trunk was placed in a vault from which almost all the air was exhausted and after two days all the moths were found to have been killed and a few days' longer exposure killed other insects. The method is said to be more effective than fumigation.

STILL USE THE STREET CARS

That 16,000,000,000 of persons were carried by the street railways of this country last year is the fact adduced by Lucius Storrs, managing director of the American Association of Street Railways, to show that the trolley holds its own against all forms of vehicular competition. He believes that busses, controlled by street railways, will become the necessary adjunct, not the competitors, or urban lines electrically operated. No industrial development in America is more impressive than the story of the trolley. At the beginning of the year 1888 there were but 48 miles of track electrically operated in the United States and Canada. Such transportation made an epochal stride forward when, a little while before, Frank J. Sprague equipped a thirteen-mile system at Richmond for electric traction. In that day the interlacing lines of communication that cover the land were unpredictable.—Philadelphia Record.

NEWARK'S

of Entire Community.

Those who made possible Monte Beaver's coming to Newark did not realize in full the store-house of energy and ability that was locked up in the new physical director. 'Columbus' loss, Newark's gain, is the way an editorial read in the capital city's papers and after two years of his presence in the city, we know he is here for he has made himself felt. There are no records to be broken; there are no figures to be eclipsed; the only goal is that boys and men who get in activities under his direction shall become better boys and men physically, morally and spiritually for having made the contact.

Gymnasium classes for boys and men have grown in popularity since Monte's coming to the Newark Y. Classes for girls and women, in gymnasium and swimming, were started and are being conducted under his direction. Incidentally, it must have pleased him greatly to hear at a very recent meeting of the directors of the Y. M. C. A. that receipts from membership for October, 1925, were the biggest in the records of the last ten years and undoubtedly in the history of the local Y. M. C. A.

The writer has an antipathy for the gymnasium mechanic—the type of physical director who moves his arms and legs in rhythmic motion but who knows not their functions or their contribution to the needs of the individual before whom those movements are set. With an understanding of what he does, there is no wonder Monte's classes in the gymnasium or swimming pool are popular for boys and girls alike?

And Monte is not known alone from that which brought him here—direct supervision of the physical department. In the year and a half of activities he has "overflowed" like he must have done in Columbus. A marble-shooting contest, a kite flying contest, bicycle race, roller skating race, track meet, base ball throwing and base circling contest, were the first of a series of city-wide events he conducted with unusual interest. They were followed with the Boys' Saturday Afternoon Base Ball league, the Junior Y Church Basket Ball league, bike hikes, and daylight hikes, swimming school for girls, swimming school for boys and his latest adventure is the Junior Foot Ball league with the Beaver Braves scrapping for championship.

These named 15 events enrolled more than 90 boys and girls outside the Y membership (many of these participating in a number of the events). Less than 400 is the enrollment in these events of the Y. M. C. A. members. The records will show more than 1,300 duplicated participants, while the spectators tallied a trifle over 2,000.

Another part of Monte Beaver can be seen in the "kind of house he keeps." Dean M. I. Foss of the Association college of Chicago, passing through our city very recently, remarked that the Newark Y. M. C. A. building was the cleanest old building he had yet seen in a city of 30,000. Those who know the equipment of the physical department of the Newark Y. M. C. A. know that Monte has been on the job making the place as inviting as it is possible to do.

When Monte Beaver left the Columbus association with its new building with its wonderfully well-equipped physical department, he evidently determined that the comparatively insignificant equipment of the Newark physical department would be no handicap in the carrying out of a constructive program, for what he has done both in and outside of the local association building would clearly indicate that. But regardless of his enthusiasm of his own job and the success already attained, there is a realization that the best work of the Newark Young Men's Christian Association, especially in its physical department, is to be done when the equipment shall measure up to the ability of its leadership and the needs of this community. The range of activities and participants will be surpassed without undue effort when his chosen work.

Monte's many friends in Circleville, his birthplace, are proud of his successful achievements in Y-Ogram.

"Hard Water" Costly

A "hard water" town of 40,000 people wastes about a ton of soap daily because of the large proportion of mineral salts in the water.

Gibson, Dam Builder

A young English engineer who has good reason to feel proud of himself is John W. Gibson, the man who was mainly responsible for the building of the great Senar dam, in Egypt, the largest dam in the world. Mr. Gibson, who is not much over thirty, is very modest. Before he went to Egypt he helped to build the new Queen Mary reservoir, the largest work of its kind in Great Britain. He also constructed some of the largest docks in the United Kingdom.

Serviceable Hairpin

A suburban trolley at Pittsfield whose occupants were mostly high school pupils en route home, became stalled from a burned-out fuse. The motorman asked if any one happened to have a piece of wire. The boy passengers searched their pockets in vain and the prospect looked pretty dark until an old-fashioned maid donated two hairpins and soon the car was speeding merrily along.—Boston Globe.

London a One-Way Town

London has adopted the American system of making one-way streets where traffic is congested and controlling movements of the auto stream by the "stop" and "go" lights. Tunnels for pedestrians are to be built under some streets.

British Racing Grows

Interest in horse racing in England has been increasing greatly. Statistics issued by the Racing Calendar show that during the last flat racing season 4,690 horses ran under Jockey club rules, this being the greatest total on record. In 1827 only 1,103 horses ran during the season.

Cemetery Lots Now Free

No pauper grave will be the fate of any resident of the town of Milton, Mass., remarks the Dearborn Independent. The town has a beautiful cemetery in which any citizen may have a lot for the asking.

The world's smallest state has the world's tallest ruler. Dr. Heinrich Sahm, president of the free city of Danzig, being 6 feet 3 inches in height.

BANK ROBBERS RECEIVED BY NOISY ALARM

First National Installs the Most Modern Efficient Device on Market.

The First National bank of Circleville is making installation of the latest type of complete electrical alarm protection in its vaults—a Grade "A" Sound Wave Burglar Alarm System designed and manufactured by the O. B. McClintock company of Minneapolis which is the largest bank burglar alarm concern in the world.

The outstanding feature of the system is the remarkable manner in which it makes the system sensitive to the noise as well as to the contact attendant upon any possible form of burglarious attack. It practically equips the vault with Ears, Nerves and a Loud Voice.

These so-called Ears of the vault are really supersensitive Sound Wave instruments installed within the vault, which, by automatic time control, are electrically active during the nighttime. The time control also provides for the continuous activity of the protection during the daytime on Sundays or holidays, as well as at night.

The Sound Wave protection is controlled by very finely tuned instruments which, during active hours, cause an instant alarm at the slightest noise made upon the vault structure or within the vault. The tap of a tool or the snap of a cutting torch upon the vault wall or door will instantly start the alarm. On the other hand, no amount of noise made in the surrounding room, nor the rumbling of a train, nor the vibration of the building—such as caused by heavy trucks or street cars will sound the alarm.

The Sound Wave protects the vault at every minute pin-point of space and the vault door is also equipped with special electrical thermostatic contacts which start the alarm when any one of them is reached by around 150 degrees of heat. The rapidity with which metal transmits heat insures an almost instant alarm should a cutting torch be directed against the vault door.

The alarm is given by the sounding of a large gong on the outside of the building. This gong, together with control instruments, ringing mechanism and ringing battery, is installed in a heavy steel housing as completely electrically protected as is the vault itself, so that it is not possible to get at the gong to prevent the ringing alarm.

The connection between the vault and the outside gong is by means of an electric multiple wire cable carrying a number of open and closed circuits. Any attempt to cut this cable inevitably trips the alarm.

Inasmuch as all the system's control instruments are located within the vault, once the timer has made the electrical protection complete for the night, it becomes completely self-protective. From then on until the next morning no one, not even the expert who installs the system can get into the vault in any possible manner without setting off the alarm.

The history of such alarm systems has proved that in case of an attempted burglary, the sounding of alarm drives the burglars away without an instant's delay. In fact, they never even stop to pick up tools or clothing. The alarm does not depend upon police or others to back up its authority.

Fully one-fourth the banks of the United States are now protected by complete burglar alarm systems of this type. The O. B. McClintock company has also installed these alarm systems in a number of state, county and city treasury vaults, federal reserve banks, and important industrial institutions such as the Ford Motor company's River Rouge plant and the assay vaults of the Homestake Gold mining company.

There are many remarkable points about the completely automatic operation of the system which the officers and employees of the bank would enjoy showing and explaining to any who may be interested. The system takes care of itself to an astonishing degree, and may be said to be automatic in its guarantee that the vault shall be under complete protection during the night.

By installing this highest type protection, the First National bank lines itself up with the most progressive banking institutions in the country.

Origin of Parole

The parole is of military origin. It was a pledge of honor given by prisoners of war that if released they would not take up arms again against the country granting the authority.

AMUSEMENTS

Three of the screen's best known players are seen in the new encore picture, "Fifty-Fifty," which is now the attraction at the Met theater. They are Hope Hampton, Lionel Barrymore and Louise Glaum, and each is fitted to roles that might well have been written to order. Miss Hampton quite as beautiful and vivacious as ever, plays a Parisian mannequin who by day parades in the creations of Paris' most exclusive modiste and by night dances with abandon in what appears to be the most villainous of Apache cafes.

It is in the role of the mannequin that Ginette, as she is called, intrigues the interest of a wealthy American. Frederick Harmon, played by Lionel Barrymore, leads him a merry chase thru all the ramifications of infatuation, disillusionment and finally love, marries him and come to America, only to find that her conquest is temporary when Nina Olmstead, a fascinating divorcee, played by Louise Glaum, steps in and stacks the cards against her. How she outwits her rival, turns the tables on a jealous, but fickle husband, shares his devotion and then says, "Fifty-Fifty," when he questions her about her flirtations, makes a very interesting at times dramatic, and always a sophisticated story.

"Fifty-Fifty" is very entertaining; it has a continental touch to its direction and is what, in the dramatic theater, would be termed "smart."

Thought is nearly always the foe of beauty. One can't have everything.

A committee is usually only one man, no matter how many members it has.

If a man is considerate, he will tolerate the right of another to hold wrong views.

This world is redeemed by religion and ethics, not by law. Don't give up teaching for a club.

One may like to read about European problems though he does not consider them his affair.

If there were no other fools in the world we would be more dissatisfied with ourselves than ever.

U. S. LOSES FIRST AIR PIRACY CASE

GOVERNMENT IS POWERLESS TO REGULATE THE MATTER

In Broadcasting Is Verdict of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson—Charges Preferred Against the Zenith Radio Corporation Station WJAZ Dismissed—Chaos To Result In Air Radio Men Predict—Decision Will Be Appealed.

NEWS ABOUT COURT HOUSE

General Happenings Taken From the Records of the Various County Offices.

Uncle Sam lost the first "air piracy" case Friday at Chicago, Illinois, when Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson dismissed charges that the Zenith Radio corporation station WJAZ illegally broadcast at hours and on wavelengths not assigned to it.

This test case ruling will result in "chaos in the air" according to broadcasters and listeners, who foresee the removal of government restraint on what may be "put on the air," as to time and wavelength.

Herbert C. Hoover, secretary of commerce, recently forecast that by such a decision as was given Friday "between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000 worth of receiving sets would be made useless to thousands of families now enjoying this field of amusement."

The decision denied to Secretary Hoover the power he had assumed to regulate hours and wavelengths of broadcasting, and from the mess that is expected to result it is believed pending legislation at Washington will be enacted, establishing government powers of regulation that will withstand court attack.

The case originated when WJAZ decided to defy government orders concerning broadcasts. This was early in the year, and Eugene F. McDonald Jr., president of Zenith Radio corporation, took the step after consulting attorneys.

The station had been licensed by the government to operate on a 322.4 meter wavelength two hours weekly under a split arrangement with Station KOA, at Denver. When it defied Secretary Hoover it began to use a 329 meter wavelength, which had been set aside for international broadcasting between the United States and Canada.

This resulted in protests from Canadians, who complained that all they could "tune in" was WJAZ. The Denver station also complained that the Chicago broadcaster was on the air at times when the wavelength had been assigned to its exclusive use.

The government had no choice but to make a court test of the law, and sued in Chicago federal court, asking that WJAZ be enjoined from "pirating" wavelengths and punished by heavy fine.

Because of the importance of the case, which assumed national import, special prosecutors were sent from Washington and the government built an elaborate case. Counsel for WJAZ contented themselves with admitting all the charges of broadcasting on unassigned wavelengths wherever they saw fit, and denied that Secretary Hoover had any legal authority to prevent the station doing what it saw fit.

In effect, Judge Wilkerson ruled that he was careful to avoid a construction of the congressional law dealing with the subject which might make it unconstitutional.

After announcing his decision, Judge Wilkerson, in an informal conversation with counsel for the defendant, said he at first intended to assess a nominal fine and thereby make it a test case, but that he changed his mind upon final consideration.

House of Noted Roy Roy Is to Be Modernized

Glasgow, Scotland.—Roy Roy's Glasgow house on the borders of Perthshire and Stirlingshire, where the famous highland outlaw died in 1734, is to be modernized. It is to have electric call bells for the servants and incandescent light for the benefit of its occupants and visitors. The idea of doing away with candles and ancient oil lamps is that of the Glasgow municipality. Some of the townspeople regard the innovation a sacrilege. Rob Roy MacGregor still having a romantic hold on the imagination of those persons familiar with the writings of Sir Walter Scott.

Bridge Span High as 20-Story Building

The huge movable double-tracked bridge span built by the Florida East Coast railway over the St. Johns river at St. Augustine, Fla., is, when elevated, as high as the average 20-story building, reaching 216 feet into the air. With the counterweights, trusses, operating struts, and other fixtures, it weighs 2,857 tons, and is said to be the heaviest of its type and the third longest ever built. The men at the top of the lifted span appear so small as to be almost invisible. Photograph is unique in that it shows three different types of movable bridge structures. The single-track span over which the train is passing is the former railway bridge; in the background is seen the vertical lift highway span built several years ago by Duval county, Florida, and in the foreground is the new huge double-tracked bascule bridge span.

THE ORIENTAL CONFERRED BY PHILOS LODGE

Delightful Session in Castle Hall and Splendid Banquet at Elks Home.

Philo lodge, Knights of Pythias Friday evening in Castle hall, conferred the Oriental degree on seven candidates. The exemplification of this degree is the playground of Pythianism and from the best information obtainable the "boys" had "the time of their lives." The work was performed by Chancellor Commander Charles B. Stoffer and his corps of able assistants.

Not the least enjoyable of the evening's entertainment was the most excellent dinner in the Elks banquet rooms. This banquet consisted of chicken with all the trimmings and was prepared and served in faultless style by the Pythian Sisters. This part of the program was under the skillful direction of G. S. Dresbach, chairman of the entertainment committee of Philos lodge.

One hundred and fifty banqueters enjoyed the splendid repast and the conferring of the degrees. Visitors were present from Chillicothe, Adelpi, Laurelville, Stoutsville, Kingston, Amanda, Ashville and Williamsport.

Bear Trees Man, Holds Him Captive All Night

Winchendon, Mass.—Exhausted and almost frozen after a night passed in a swaying tree top in the woods near the Beaman farm, Joseph Stone, a woodsman, was brought into town in the morning by Daniel P. Morlock, a passing autoist, who rescued him from his precarious position.

Stone explained that he had occupied his chilly perch all night because a big black bear had insisted on occupying a spot near the bottom of the tree. A hastily organized hunting party started at once for the scene. The bear was reported headed for the vicinity of Monadnock mountain, but the hunting party expected the dogs to tree him.

Miss Grace Moodie, trustee; Miss Mary Wilder, librarian, and Miss Leola Warner, assistant of the Circleville public library, returned Friday evening from Columbus, where they attended a two days' sectional meeting of the Ohio Library association.

Mr. S. T. Rife, of the board of trustees, attended the Friday morning session and took the leading role in a playlet, "Why Not?" a discussion of library service under the county plan, in which Miss Moodie also took part. Miss Warner was enrolled in a study group, conducted by Miss Mildred Sandoe, of Grandview Heights, on "The Library and the School." Miss Wilder acted as chairman of the meeting.

Leading speakers were H. H. Griswold, assistant attorney general of Ohio, Charnels Hadley, librarian of the Cincinnati Public Library and president of the Ohio Library association, Herbert Hirschberg, state librarian, Rev. George Barber, of Columbus; Miss Anna Tarr, of Youngstown, and Miss Georgia McAfee, of Lima.

BROTHERHOOD MEETING WAS INTERESTING

Talks by Business Men Were Helpful and Encouraging to Young People.

Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood held its regular meeting in the social room of the church on Thursday evening, April 17.

The meeting opened by singing hymn No. 84 "I Could Not do Without Thee," followed by scripture reading and prayer by Rev. G. J. Troutman. The hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was then sung. After the regular business meeting a buffet lunch was served by Adam Goldhart and his committee.

The program consisted of a number of talks on the "Start and Development of My Business" by George C. Gerhart Charles L. Mack, Elmer E. Wolf, E. E. Sensenbrenner and W. E. Crist. These talks were very interesting and helpful, especially to the younger members of the organization who have this task to master yet, namely, "success." These talks pointed out how necessary it is first to build a character and what an asset this will be to a successful business.

These meetings are very interesting and everyone should come. The next meeting is on May 15.

THE SENATE
Prohibition Investigation — Dry Side of Case.
Washington, April 16.—(UP.)—While several moves were under way in downtown Washington as a result of Prohibition Chief Andrews' frank expression for light beer, the dries began presentation of their case today before the Senate Prohibition Investigating Committee.
Dry spokesmen announced they would base their refutation of the wet case upon the following three major contentions:
1. Statistics of wets that corruption, drunkenness and diseases have increased are misleading. The dries will submit their own figures in an effort to show wets have concentrated on isolated cases and that as a matter of fact drinking is done nowadays only among a few and prohibition is a success to most people.
2. Prohibition has raised the standard of the working man and salvaged the pay envelope he used to spend in the saloon, for his family.
3. If there have been any defects in enforcement, it has been because unsympathetic agents have been given key positions and because congress has not furnished sufficient funds and machinery.

EUSTIS ROMANCE ENDS IN WEDLOCK
A quiet wedding which will be of much interest and also quite a surprise to the many friends of the young couple in their home states, as well as to many in Eustis, took place Wednesday, April 7, at 8:30 p. m., at the M. E. Church parsonage, Rev. Soper officiating. Miss Vera Jane Wood, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wood, of Columbus, Ohio, and Sidney Elliot Close, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Close, of Greenwich, Conn., were married.
It seems to have been a love match almost from first acquaintance, which happened some few weeks ago, and when the time came for the young man to journey homeward they decided "no parting could there be." After gaining consent of their parents they lost no time in having the nuptial knot tied and left by auto Thursday morning to spend a short time with friends in Ohio, after which they will be at home for the summer in Round Hill, Greenwich, Conn.
Mrs. Close, with her parents, spent the winter in Eustis. Mr. Close also spent the winter here, being a representative of Belmont Heights, and is considered as having unusual business ability for one of his age. Both have made many friends while here who will join in wishing them all the joys and happiness of married life.—Sunday's Lake Region News, Eustis, Fla.

Prehistoric Monster's Bones Found in Illinois

Springfield, Ill.—Three teeth weighing fourteen pounds each, a tusk seven feet nine inches long and a skull four feet wide are the remains of a prehistoric Illinois monster which have been excavated near Golconda for the state museum by Dr. A. R. Crook, chief.

Bones of the monster are also included in the collection which has been created by Doctor Crook for shipping to the museum. Fifteen boxes were necessary to contain the remains excavated after the tusk had been found by steam shovel working on a dam.

The remains were found about a month ago by a steam shovel crew working on dam No. 31 of the Ohio river waterway project. The dam is about four miles below Golconda. When notified by the Associated Press of the discovery of the remains, Doctor Crook communicated with engineers in charge of the construction of the dam, asking them to leave the remains as they were found until he could superintend the excavation.

BETTER HOMES EXPOSITION OPEN SUNDAY

Visit "Home Beautiful" on Northridge Road—Merchants Cooperating.

The first Better Homes exposition and the "Home Beautiful" will be shown tomorrow, Sunday, by the merchants of this city.

The Circleville Development company, has kindly loaned one of their beautiful houses on Northridge road, corner Guilford avenue to the merchants of the city.

The exposition will last one week. Beginning Sunday afternoon, open house will be kept for the entertainment of the public, from two to 4:30 in the afternoons and from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evenings. The exposition will be open at the same hours during the week and there will be attendants in charge to show you thru.

New devices for the home will be shown. Home furnishings now made for comfort, as well as decorative quality will be on exhibition. You will get some idea of decorations that are new; for instance, draperies for windows, that obviate the need of curtains. Glazed chintz is a popular material. Crisp and colorful curtains of this type remove much of the rooms drabness and take away the stiffness of the room. Small tables also play a big part in home schemes, for various rooms of a modern home can always utilize them as aids to comfort. Charm quality is easy to perpetuate in a modern home, if compactness in selection of cooking equipment and furnishings is observed. Half the furnishings in a kitchen today can be thrown into discard, if you use modern-up-to-date articles.

Crowded homes lack atmosphere of charm. Thought and care should be exercised in arranging furniture and objects in a room.

Do not fail to visit the "Home Beautiful" either Sunday or some time during the coming week. It will be a revelation and will be interesting to every lover of a real home. The articles exhibited will give you a better idea as to how they look in a home. That is the thought the merchants have in showing their wares and you will like the plan yourself, so lend your presence and join the crowd.

THIRD OF DRUNKEN DRIVERS ARE FREED

Public Officials Lax, Says Safety Director.

Washington.—Thirty-three per cent of drunken automobile drivers go unpunished by the authorities, is the startling statement made here by Marcus A. Dow, director of the Stewart-Warner safety council for the prevention of automobile accidents, who was here to attend the national conference on street and highway safety, called by Secretary Hoover of the Commerce department and which opened its sessions in the United States Chamber of Commerce building.

Mr. Dow, who presented to the Hoover conference many other startling facts he has discovered in his many years of safety work, has just completed a survey of the death-dealing automobile with the assistance of the chiefs of police in 185 cities and towns which he is compiling for the Stewart-Warner safety council of Chicago to be used in his nationwide campaign to help cut down the tremendous death toll due to automobile accidents. In an interview prior to the opening of the three-day conference Mr. Dow revealed some of the high spots in his investigation.

Are Contributing Factor.

"In the survey of the contributing causes to automobile accidents, said Mr. Dow, 'it has been made clear that drunken and reckless drivers of automobiles are numerous enough to be a big contributing factor to the street and highway accident record of the United States. The record of arrests shows this class of drivers to be an actual and grave menace throughout the entire nation, while adequate punishment of offenders is conspicuously lacking. The failure to punish is the most regrettable part of this serious situation.'

"I have just received reports from the chiefs of police of 185 cities and towns which show that 14,505 persons were arrested for driving automobiles while intoxicated in 1925 and 146,766 arrests were made for speeding or reckless driving where no intoxication was charged. These cities covered in my survey represent 34 states and the District of Columbia. The population of the towns and cities on which this estimate is made totals 15,000,000.

"The most amazing fact revealed in these reports is that 33 per cent of the drunken drivers arrested received no punishment, their cases being either discharged or sentence suspended. We found that only 21 per cent arrested for intoxication were sent to jail and 46 per cent fined. Of those arrested for speeding or reckless driving and who were not drunk only 46 per cent were fined and 1 per cent sent to jail.

124,000 Drivers Drunk.

"Assuming that the same conditions exist in all the other cities and towns of the United States as are found in those covered in the Stewart-Warner safety council survey, which is a reasonable assumption, there were at some time last year more than 124,000 persons driving automobiles in the streets and highways of the country while drunk. The number guilty of speeding and reckless driving where no intoxication was involved would include 5 per cent of the motorists of the United States.

"Every automobile with an intoxicated driver at the wheel becomes a potential death car, and every car in the hands of a reckless driver a deadly weapon. It is obvious that if the automobile death and injury record is to be improved and the streets and highways made safer for the people there must be a decided tightening up in the enforcement of law against drunken and reckless drivers, which our survey demonstrates is sadly lacking throughout the country generally."

Mr. Dow found just one bright spot in the course of his investigation. That was in Florida. At Jacksonville 192 persons were arrested for driving cars while intoxicated and every one of them was punished.

Anniversary RecallsFamous Days of '49

January 24, 1926, was the seventy-eighth anniversary of the day that James Wilson Marshall found, in California, the first flake of gold, worth intrinsically but 50 cents. He picked up this "chipsa," as he called it, at Sutter's mill, on the south fork of the American river, now Coloma, El Dorado county, Cal. At the time of his discovery Marshall was a vigorous type of frontiersman, a trifle over thirty-seven years of age.

The first flake of the gold was sent August 23, 1848, by Capt. Joseph L. Polson, U. S. A., to the National museum at Washington, D. C., now the Smithsonian institution. It has resided there, with the original letter that accompanied it, ever since its receipt.

James Wilson Marshall was born in Hope township, Hunterdon county, New Jersey, October 8, 1810. He died at Kelsey, El Dorado county, Cal., August 10, 1885. His remains rest beneath a monument erected at Coloma by the state of California.—Detroit News.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS WILL BE CONCLUDED

Tomorrow Will be Red Letter Day at Calvary--Basket Dinner at Noon.

Friday night at Calvary Evangelical church Rev. Glass preached a powerful sermon on "A Young Man's Choice," taking for his text; "One Thing Thou Lackest."

Jesus beheld that splendid young man and loved him, He saw within him a tremendous lack. He said, "One thing thou lackest."

What was it this man lacked? He did not lack a good desire, neither did he lack courage, yet he lacked that power that would have enabled him to say "Yes" to the will of Jesus Christ; that power that would have made him willing to go about his Master's business. His possessions seemed to shut the face of Jesus out of his soul, and instead of seeing Jesus he saw his earthly possessions.

Just as truly and lovingly as Jesus called that young man He is calling you. Just as truly as He said to that young man, "Take the cross," He is saying it to you. What will you do? Will you do as this young man did? Oh, tonight in Jesus name, if you have never definitely consecrated yourself to God do it now!

Are you all ready for a big day for Jesus tomorrow? Remember, Sunday school at 9 a. m. This is "Red Letter day" in the Sunday school and we expect a large attendance. Some special features are on the program that you should all plan to hear.

Following the Sunday school at 10:15 will be a "Fortification Service" subject; "The Great Purpose to be Kept in View."

Everybody come and bring your basket well filled as dinner will be served in the basement following the morning service.

At 2 p. m. there will be an old-fashioned Evangelical Fellowship service, followed with a sermon on "The Ambition of the Spiritually Minded."

Sunday evening at 6:15 is E. L. C. E. meeting. Don't neglect this service as the subject is one in which we should all be interested; "How do Men Either Build or Undermine the Sabbath?" The last service of this evangelistic campaign will be at 7:15 Sunday evening, subject; "Our Future What About It?" Let us make the most of these last services with Brother and Sister Glass. You are going to miss a wonderful treat if you don't get in on the good things tomorrow.

Monday evening there will be a special program conducted by Rev. Glass. If you want to know what it is going to be, come to the services Sunday.

Charleston Champion
Dr. Joseph A. Interland, president of the Pediatricists' association, declared in New York the other day that the charleston causes flat feet. "I never heard a good word spoken of the charleston but once," he said. "It seems that once a rich bachelor, charlestoning with a beautiful girl, panted:
"How divine this charleston is? I wouldn't miss a measure of it for wealth untold."
"Why? the girl asked softly, and she clung to him a little closer, for he was very rich.
"Because," he puffed, "I feel the first symptoms of an influenza cold stealing over me, and I want to charleston it off."

Rarefied Air Used for Killing Moths

Washington.—Mountain climbers and aviators are familiar enough with the disabling and even deadly effect of rarefied air, but it has remained for scientists to utilize thin air in beneficial ways.

E. A. Back and R. T. Cotton of the Department of Agriculture have first reported on the work they and others have done in using rarefied air to kill insects in stored articles subject to their depredations. They have found that moths and other insects inside a locked trunk may be killed by exposure for a few days to atmosphere from one-fifth to one-thirtieth of normal.

A trunk was placed in a vault from which almost all the air was exhausted and after two days all the moths were found to have been killed and a few days' longer exposure killed other insects.

The method is said to be more effective than fumigation.

STILL USE THE STREET CARS

That 16,000,000,000 of persons were carried by the street railways of this country last year is the fact adduced by Lucius Storrs, managing director of the American Association of Street Railways, to show that the trolley holds its own against all forms of vehicular competition. He believes that busses, controlled by street railways, will become the necessary adjunct, not the competitors, or urban lines electrically operated. No industrial development in America is more impressive than the story of the trolley. At the beginning of the year 1888 there were but 48 miles of track electrically operated in the United States and Canada. Such transportation made an epochal stride forward when, a little while before, Frank J. Sprague equipped a thirteen-mile system at Richmond for electric traction. In that day the inter-lacing lines of communication that cover the land were unpredictable.—Philadelphia Record.

NEWARK'S

of Entire Community.

Those who made possible Monte Beaver's coming to Newark did not realize in full the store-house of energy and ability that was locked up in the new physical director. 'Columbus' loss, Newark's gain, is the way an editorial read in the capital city's papers and after two years of his presence in the city, we know he is here for he has made himself felt. There are no records to be broken; there are no figures to be eclipsed; the only goal is that boys and men who get in activities under his direction shall become better boys and men physically, morally and spiritually for having made the contact.

Gymnasium classes for boys and men have grown in popularity since Monte's coming to the Newark Y. Classes for girls and women, in gymnasium and swimming, were started and are being conducted under his direction. Incidentally, it must have pleased him greatly to hear at a very recent meeting of the directors of the Y. M. C. A. that receipts from membership for October, 1925, were the biggest in the records of the last ten years and undoubtedly in the history of the local Y. M. C. A.

The writer has an antipathy for the gymnasium mechanic—the type of physical director who moves his arms and legs in rhythmic motion but who knows not their functions or their contribution to the needs of the individual before whom those movements are set. With an understanding of what he does, there is no wonder Monte's classes in the gymnasium or swimming pool are popular for boys and girls alike.

And Monte is not known alone from that which brought him here—direct supervision of the physical department. In the year and a half of activities he has "overflowed" like he must have done in Columbus. A marble-shooting contest, a kite flying contest, bicycle race, roller skating race, track meet, base ball throwing and base circling contest, were the first of a series of city-wide events he conducted with unusual interest. They were followed with the Boys' Saturday Afternoon Base Ball league, the Junior Y Church Basket Ball league, bike hikes, and daylight hikes, swimming school for girls, swimming school for boys and his latest adventure is the Junior Foot Ball league with the Beaver Braves scrapping for championship.

These named 15 events enrolled more than 90 boys and girls outside the Y membership (many of these participating in a number of the events). Less than 400 is the enrollment in these events of the Y. M. C. A. members. The records will show more than 1,300 duplicated participants, while the spectators tallied a trifle over 2,000.

Another part of Monte Beaver can be seen in the "kind of house he keeps." Dean M. I. Foss of the Association college of Chicago, passing through our city very recently, remarked that the Newark Y. M. C. A. building was the cleanest old building he had yet seen in a city of 30,000. Those who know the equipment of the physical department of the Newark Y. M. C. A. know that Monte has been on the job making the place as inviting as it is possible to do.

When Monte Beaver left the Columbus association with its new building with its wonderfully well-equipped physical department, he evidently determined that the comparatively insignificant equipment of the Newark physical department would be no handicap in the carrying out of a constructive program, for what he has done both in and outside of the local association building would clearly indicate that. But regardless of his enthusiasm of his own job and the success already attained, there is a realization that the best work of the Newark Young Men's Christian Association, especially in its physical department, is to be done when the equipment shall measure up to the ability of its leadership and the needs of this community. The range of activities and participants will be surpassed without undue effort when a new Y. M. C. A. is built where the modern facilities—a gymnasium that is above the basement, where light and ventilation will be easily commanded, where locker rooms and shower baths and swimming pool will not only be convenient, but also inviting, and men of all social standing will find their niche in Beaver's program and be happy in it.—The Y-Ogram.

Monte's many friends in Circleville, his birthplace, are proud of his successful achievements in his chosen work.

Gibson, Dam Builder

A young English engineer who has good reason to feel proud of himself is John W. Gibson, the man who was mainly responsible for the building of the great Senar dam, in Egypt, the largest dam in the world. Mr. Gibson, who is not much over thirty, is very modest. Before he went to Egypt he helped to build the new Queen Mary reservoir, the largest work of his kind in Great Britain. He also constructed some of the largest docks in the United Kingdom.

Serviceable Hairpin

A suburban trolley at Pittsfield whose occupants were mostly high school pupils en route home, became stalled from a burned-out fuse. The motorman asked if any one happened to have a piece of wire. The boy passengers searched their pockets in vain and the prospect looked pretty dark until an old-fashioned maid donated two hairpins and soon the car was speeding merrily along.—Boston Globe.

BANK ROBBERS RECEIVED BY NOISY ALARM

First National Installs the Most Modern Efficient Device on Market.

The First National bank of Circleville is making installation of the latest type of complete electrical alarm protection in its vaults—a Grade "A" Sound Wave Burglar Alarm System designed and manufactured by the O. B. McClintock company of Minneapolis which is the largest bank burglar alarm concern in the world.

The outstanding feature of the system is the remarkable manner in which it makes the system sensitive to the noise as well as to the contact attendant upon any possible form of burglarious attack. It practically equips the vault with Ears, Nerves and a Loud Voice.

These so-called Ears of the vault are really supersensitive Sound Wave instruments installed within the vault which, by automatic time control, are electrically active during the night-time. The time control also provides for the continuous activity of the protection during the daytime on Sundays or holidays, as well as at night.

The Sound Wave protection is controlled by very finely tuned instruments which, during active hours, cause an instant alarm at the slightest noise made upon the vault structure or within the vault. The tap of a tool or the snap of a cutting torch upon the vault wall or door will instantly start the alarm. On the other hand, no amount of noise made in the surrounding room, nor the rumbling of a train, nor the vibration of the building—such as caused by heavy trucks or street cars will sound the alarm.

The alarm is given by the sounding of a large gong on the outside of the building. This gong, together with control instruments, ringing mechanism and ringing battery, is installed in a heavy steel housing as completely electrically protected as is the vault itself, so that it is not possible to get at the gong to prevent the ringing of alarm.

The connection between the vault and the outside gong is by means of an electric multiple wire cable carrying a number of open and closed circuits. Any attempt to cut this cable inevitably trips the alarm. Inasmuch as all the system's control instruments are located within the vault, once the timer has made the electrical protection complete for the night, it becomes completely self-protective. From then on until the next morning no one, not even the expert who installs the system can get into the vault in any possible manner without setting off the alarm.

The history of such alarm systems has proved that in case of an attempted burglary, the sounding of alarm drives the burglars away without an instant's delay. In fact, they never even stop to pick up tools or clothing. The alarm does not depend upon police or others to back up its authority. Fully one-fourth the banks of the United States are now protected by complete burglar alarm systems of this type. The O. B. McClintock company has also installed these alarm systems in a number of state, county and city treasury vaults, federal reserve banks, and important industrial institutions such as the Ford Motor company's River Rouge plant and the assay vaults of the Homestake Gold mining company.

There are many remarkable points about the completely automatic operation of the system which the officers and employees of the bank would enjoy showing and explaining to any who may be interested. The system takes care of itself to an astonishing degree, and may be said to be automatic in its guarantee that the vaults shall be under complete protection during the night. By installing this highest type protection, the First National bank links itself up with the most progressive banking institutions in the country.

Origin of Parole

The parole is of military origin. It was a pledge of honor given by prisoners of war that if released they would not take up arms again against the country granting the authority.

AMUSEMENTS

Three of the screen's best known players are seen in the new encore picture, "Fifty-Fifty," which is now the attraction at the Met theater. They are Hope Hampton, Lionel Barrymore and Louise Glaum, and each is fitted to roles that might well have been written to order. Miss Hampton quite as beautiful and vivacious as ever, plays a Parisian mannequin who by day parades in the creations of Paris' most exclusive modiste and by night dances with abandon in what appears to be the most villainous of Apache cafes.

It is in the role of the mannequin that Ginette, as she is called, intrigues the interest of a wealthy American. Frederick Harmon, played by Lionel Barrymore, leads him a merry chase thru all the ramifications of infatuation, disillusionment and finally love, marries him and come to America, only to find that her conquest is temporary when Nina Olmstead, a fascinating divorcee, played by Louise Glaum, steps in and stacks the cards against her. How she outwits her rival, turns the tables on a jealous, but fickle husband, shares his devotion and then says, "Fifty-Fifty," when he questions her about her flirtations, makes a very interesting at times dramatic, and always a sophisticated story.

"Fifty-Fifty" is very entertaining; It has a continental touch to its direction and is what, in the dramatic theater, would be termed "smart."

Thought is nearly always the foe of beauty. One can't have everything.

A committee is usually only one man, no matter how many members it has.

If a man is considerate, he will tolerate the right of another to hold wrong views.

This world is redeemed by religion and ethics, not by law. Don't give up teaching for a club.

One may like to read about European problems though he does not consider them his affair.

If there were no other fools in the world we would be more dissatisfied with ourselves than ever.
